LAP WELDED

Tubing & Casing

Both Plain and Galvanized, for Oil and Salt Wells, American Charcoal Iron Boiler Tubes, Lap Welded Tubing for Steam and Water.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS OF

W. C. ALLISON'S

PATENT JOINT

il Well Tubing.

This Superior Tubing is furnished with heavy sockets and is cut with a vanishing screw thread, corresponding exactly with the thread in the socket, so that when screwed up it has a bearing the whole length of the joint and the absence of a deep thread on the tube at the end of the socket obviates the liability to break at that point from the vibration caused by the action of the pump.

Each length and socket is stamped with our trade mark, and is carefully tested before shipment with a hydraulic pressure of 1,200 pounds to the square inch.

MANUFACTURERS OF

LAP-WELDED OIL WELL

Tubing & Casing.

We would call the particular attention of dealers and producers to this make of Tubing and Casing. One of the important features in the manufacture of our Tubing is, that the are made perfectly straight, smooth and uniform, thereby giving equal and great strength to the tubing throughout.

Lap and the Weld

Each joint carefully inspected, reamed at end and proved with the sockets on at a hydraulic pressure of 1,300 pounds to the square inch before shipment.

Each length stamped with our trade mark,

Tammany's Candidate.

FOR PRESIDENT

JOHN T. HOFFMAN, OF SING SING.

The Families Who are to Rule Us.

THE HOUSE OF HOFFMAN.

I—John T. Hoffman, caught early and kept in office all his life. The Governor who signed the Erie Bill and Tax Levies, and candidate for the Presidency.

II—Charles O Joline, brother-in-law; chief clerk in the office of Mayor; salary, $3 500.

III—H. Starkweather, father-in-law, collector of assessments. The fees of this office, in good times, when the streets and parks are to be graded.

THE HOUSE OF SWEENY.

IV—Peter Barr Sweeny, ex-Chamberlain and ex-Director, President of the Department of Public Parks, Director of the Tenth National Bank, in which city funds are kept, a chief owner in the New York Printing Company, a director in the Brooklyn Bridge Company, which has about four or five millions of the funds of the two cities to expend, candidate for Secretary of the Treasury or the United States Senate.

V—James M Sweeny, own brother to Peter; Clerk of the Supreme Court; Deputy City Chamberlain, with brother-in-law Bradley; Commissioner of Riverside Park Opening and streets generally, and candidate for Tammany Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

VI—William A. Herring, brother-in-law; Auditor of Accounts in Controller's office, and only receives $6,000. Thinks he should have as much as Bradley.

VII—Thomas J. Barr, own uncle, Commissioner of Street Openings; Receiver of the Bininger and other estates; Police Commissioner, salary $15,000; and would like to be Minister to England under Hoffman.

VIII—John J Bradley, brother-in-law; Chamberlain of the city, where he makes $150,000 per annum; State Senator, and candidate for Collector of the Port.

X.—Forbes Holland, own cousin to Peter and Commissioner of Markets and should be something better. Has high hopes in 1872.

THE HOUSE OF TWEED.

XI—William M. Tweed, Commissioner of Public Works, appointed by Mayor Hall; salary, $7,500, ex Supervisor and as such the builder of the new City Hall, director of Brooklyn bridge; director of the Erie railroad; promoter of Hoosac Tunnel; director and owner in New York Printing Company; director Tenth National Bank; partner of Ingersoll & Co., of Fisk, Gould & Co., of Garvey & Co, of Keyser & Co, with about $20,000 000; owner of the editor of the Sun, and of Bartlett, the great trotting-match reporter. Expects to be Collector, Surveyor and Naval Officer, and hold all the revenue offices, when Hoffman is elected.

XII—Richard Tweed, own brother of Wm. M Tweed; Assessor, with revenues of about $15 000 a year. Evidently a poor relation shoved into a corner and not at all satisfied.

XIII—Wm. H. King, brother-in-law; Tax Commissioner; salary, $10,000; and wants a bill passed making it $30,000. Would like Bradley's place.

XIV—Wm. H. King, Jr., own nephew; Deputy Commissioner of Department of Public Works, and anxious for something better. Has no diamonds.

XV—Wm M Tweed, Jr., heir apparent; Assistant District Attorney; salary, $5,000 Commissioner of Street Openings: appointed by Supreme Court. Barnard; fees, about $25,000 a year. Receiver of Pacific railroad, General on Hoffman's staff, and candidate for mission to Paris.

XVI—Alfred Tweed, son of The Boss, Clerk in District Court. Would like to have more salary.

XVII—Frank Tweed, nephew of The Boss, Clerk in Public Instruction Department, salary $5,000; but feels that he should have a good deal better place. Has good hopes when the Connollys leave.

THE HOUSE OF CONNOLLY

XVIII—Richard B Connolly, Controller of the City of New York, salary $7,500, perquisites $500,000; Commissioner of the Sinking Fund, $1,000. Would like to get out of the country with his movable property, and has no special ambition for political life.

XIX—R C Hutchings, own son-in-law, Surrogate of New York, and makes a decent subsistence. Has good expectations from the old man.

XX—Joel A Fithian, son-in-law, Assistant Receiver of Taxes; Commissioner on Street Openings; Commissioner on Broadway Widening; worries out of the Treasury about $40,000 a year, and would like also to be Chamberlain.

XXI—J. Townsend Connolly, son; Auditor of the accounts, $6 000 per annum; Commissioner on Street Openings, appointed by Supreme Court, fees too numerous to mention.

A Bold Bank Robbery.

A BANK IN WHEELING ENTERED BY ARMED MEN AT NOONDAY—A PLUCKY CLERK SHOT AT THREE TIMES—$1,536 STOLEN.

There was much excitement in Main street, Wheeling, West Virginia, about half past 12 o'clock on Wednesday, when the sound of four pistol shots, fired in rapid succession, was heard in the People's Bank, followed immediately by the sight of two men rushing out, holding revolvers in their hands, which they pointed at whoever attempted to stay their progress. Quickly the word ran along the street that an attempt had been made to kill George Feeney, clerk in the institution, and rob the bank. The particulars are thus given by the Wheeling Register:

"At the hour named, there being no one in the bank but George Feeney, two ordinarily-dressed men entered the institution, leaving one on the outside, on the watch. As soon as the strangers got opposite to Mr. Feeney they drew their revolvers and told him they had come to take possession, ordering him to go into a back room, without resistance, if he would save his life. George replied, "You have come to take possession, have you?" and took a step back toward a drawer where a loaded revolver was lying. No sooner did he move backward than one of the robbers fired his revolver, the ball grazing Feeney's head and burying itself in the window casing. As Mr. Feeney drew his revolver to return the shot, both the rascals blazed away at him, he at the same time shooting at the tallest of the two, who was trying to get behind the counter.

Almost at the same moment that Mr. Feeney got back to the drawer and drew out his revolver, the taller of the two men sprang forward and grasped at the packages of money lying in an open drawer of the table, at the same time the two fired, as above stated. It was thought at first that the robbers had been foiled in their attempts on the bank's funds, but the loss of $1 536 was discovered after the bank closed last night. The rapid firing soon drew a crowd to the door, and the robbers saw that their game was up. Holding their pistols against the breasts of those who stopped their egress, they got out on to the street, where the cry of "Stop thief" called out a great number of persons. Alex McLaughlin made an attempt to stop them on Main street, but one of them leveled his pistol and shouted, "Come on!" and Alex. like a sensible man, didn't "come on." As they turned up Mulberry alley they met Joseph Paull. The taller of the two rascals placed the muzzle of his pistol against Joe's breast, shouting, "Let me pass, sir." Joe instantly removed any obstruction his presence might have been, and said, "Pass on, stranger." Turning down the alley that runs from Monroe to John street, they ran to Oak alley, up past Luke's stable, and out into East Wheeling, making their escape by the very boldness of the operation, and by opposing their arms against unarmed men. The men who made this attempt are known to the police, and have been under the eye of Captain Conant for some time. The first came to the city about two months ago, and remained but a few days, long enough to put up the 'job' they yesterday attempted to make a success."

How Garrick Acted.

SUPERB DRAMATIC CRITICISM.

The Fortnightly Review recently gave some translations by the Hon. Robert Lytton, from the letters of one Litchtenberg, now forgotten, in which that gentleman gives an account of Garrick's acting in a way that may well serve as a model for the dramatic circle. Not only for this are the extracts interesting, but also as giving us a definite idea of this great actor. He says:

"What gives to this man his astonishing secendancy over our imagination, and his unrivalled command of our sympathies? Many things, no doubt. How much of it is probably due to his felicitous physical formation. There is in his physiognomy, his figure, his gait, a peculiar distinction and charm which I have just now and then noticed in a few Frenchmen, but have never noticed in another Englishman. * * * * For instance, when he turns to salute any one, it is not only his head and shoulders, or arms and legs, that come into play, but all these, all together, and every other part of the man, that simultaneously and harmoniously contribute, each its special grace, to the most refined expression of a supreme courtesy, such as could not be surpassed by the greatest grand seigneur of the court of Louis XIV. There is no man in England who can make Garrick's bow. * * * * Nothing in him is slipshod, slovenly, or slouching. No actor ever needed less elbow-room for effective gesture. * * * * * * * Amongst other actors he moves like a man among marionettes. His way of walking across the stage, of shrugging his shoulders, of crossing his arms, of cocking his hat, of putting it on and taking it off —in short, whatever he does is so easily and securely done that the man appears to be all right hand."

In his account of Garrick's "Hamlet," Lichtenburg says:

"'Hamlet' appears in a suit of mourning, the only one that is to be seen at court within a few months after the death of the late king. With him are 'Horatio' and 'Marcellus;' the two latter in uniform. 'Hamlet' is walking up and down the stage, with his arms folded high over his chest, and his hat pulled down low over his eyes, like a man who is struggling with strong inward emotion. * * * 'Hamlet' is now in the far background of the stage, a little to the left. He has his back to the audience. At this moment 'Horatio' starts, and points to the right, when the ghost suddenly becomes visible to us all. 'Look, my lord, it comes!' 'Horatio' cries. Garrick, at these words, rapidly turns round, and, instantly confronted by the ghost he staggers back three or four paces. His knees knock together, his legs seem giving way beneath him. His hat falls to the ground. His two arms are stretched out before him horizontally—the right arm quite straight, and the right hand on a level with his head; the left arm slightly curved, and the hand lower. The fingers of both hands are spread wide. The mouth gapes open. In this entreating, deprecating attitude he remains for a while perfectly motionless; like a man suddenly petrified by the terror from which he is endeavoring to escape. His two friends, who are already familiarized with the apparition, support his sinking frame. His countenance expresses such intense horror that, long before he uttered a word, I was seized with a cold shuddering. * * Then, at length, he speaks; not with the beginning, but with the end of a long respiration; and, in half-suffocated, tremulous accents, he exclaims faintly, 'Angels and ministers of grace defend us!'"

So admirable and useful, and so difficult of access, is this description of really good acting that we make no apology to our readers for quoting more of it. Those of them who are to see "Hamlet" next winter thank us:

"The ghost beckons 'Hamlet' to follow him. Could you but have seen Garrick in the movement, when he endeavors to rid himself of the two friends who are holding him back! It is only mechanically and unconsciously that he goes on speaking and struggling with 'Horatio' and 'Marcellus.' All this while his eyes are intensely fixed upon the ghost, and his whole being is in the look of those eyes. At last, however, he loses patience with this friendly hindrance, which, till then, he has scarcely realized. He turns upon his two friends, shakes them off with impetuosity, and draws his sword upon them with a movement as flashingly rapid as his sudden perception of the impediment which they are placing in the way of his uncontrollable impulse. * * * They loose their hold upon the prince, who, with drawn sword pointed in the direction of the ghost, then mutters, 'Go on, I'll follow thee.' The ghost now recedes and slowly disappears. 'Hamlet,' however, remains, as it were, transfixed upon the spot where he has last addressed the receding phantom; his sword still stretched before him, as though to put a certain distance between himself and the spectre in whose track he feels himself irresistibly urged forward. Then, just as the spectator loses sight of the ghost altogether, the immovable figure of the prince begins to follow it: slowly, hesitatingly, like a man who is jerked onward from within, and is feeling his way onward over dangerous ground. From time to time he halts; then again advances, creeping, with laborious breath, his gaze still fixed upon the spot where the ghost was last seen; his hair dishevelled, until at last, him also we slowly lose sight of behind the scenes."

With one more extract we close:

"In that admirable monologue, 'O that this too, too solid flesh would melt,' etc, he works out, if I may use a mathematical term, a whole series of small equations, which serve to bring the action of average human nature up to the highest degree of individual intensity. Tears of righteous affliction for the loss of so beloved a father (whose unweeping widow is a wife again before her weeds are a year old); tears the most difficult of all to suppress, because, in such a struggle between conflicting duties, they are the only solace of an honest heart; tears restrained, yet ever starting from the bitter sources of a boundless resentment, overwhelm the utterance of Garrick when he exclaims, 'So excellent a king!' The last word of the sentence is submerged in a choking sob, inaudible, and yet visible in the inarticulate quiver of the lips, which immediately afterwards close convulsively, as though to break off too literal a translation of the secret grief, which thus vented might degenerate into unmanliness. 'So excellent a k * * * *!' This revelation of unwept tears discovers to us simultaneously the heavy weight of a deep inward woe and the strength of the soul which is enduring it. At the close of the monologue, a just impatience mingles its tones with those of 'Hamlet's' lamentation; but just as his uplifted arm falls like the stroke of a hatchet to accentuate the climax of his scorn and indignation, the expected word which should accompany the action is, to the astonishment of the audience, not forthcoming. It fails altogether for an instant, re-emerging the instant after from the deepest depths of a profound emotion, all heavy and weak with the inward tears in which it has been plunged."

Prince Bismarck's Home.

A correspondent of an Austrian journal gives a description of Prince Bismarck's estate at Varzin, and of the chancellor's mode of living there. He writes:

"The village of Varzin has nothing striking about it, but when it is passed the road turns to the right, and, after climbing a hill, we pass between the cow-sheds and the barns, and thus reach the court of the the county seat which Prince Bismarck has chosen for his favorite retreat. It is a simple dwelling house, neither better nor worse than those of the landed gentry of the district. No æsthetical architect has been employed to ornament it. It seems as if no one had been bold enough to attempt to rival the attractions of the park behind the house. Kew does not surpass it in beauty, nor do Torcy and St. Germain equal it in grandeur.

"It was this park which induced Prince Bismarck to purchase Varzin. Close behind the house the undulations of the soil begin, and the park gradually merges into the woods, and forms, with them, one broad green ocean of foliage, which seems here and there broken into forest waves. Grand beeches, ancient oaks, pines, firs and birch-trees lend variety to the view. In the midst of them lies the estate. Its soil is neither very good nor very bad; it produces average harvests of rye, and the Baltic sand, the bane of the husbandman, only shows itself here and there. Such pieces of ground have long lain fallow. It takes six hours to drive round the estate; and Chomitz, where there was formerly a glass-house, with Bohemian workmen, also belongs to Varzin. The Wipper flows through a part of the domain, and forms its boundaries in other places. It adds both to its beauty and value, as the rapid stream, which is well stocked with trout, is used to flat the timber of Pomerania to the Baltic.

"Prince Bismarck only allows trees enough to be felled to let sufficient air and light into his woods. His letters to his sister show how dearly he loves farming and hunting, the forest and the quiet life of a country gentleman. Since the First Napoleon, no one has made so much noise in the world, and yet by nature he is inclined to a contemplative life. Lothar Bucher is the only official person who has accompanied him. He goes through all the important papers which are forwarded from Berlin, and prepares them for the signature of the chancellor. Lothar Bucher, who refused to pay the taxes in 1838, and was therefore long an exile on British soil, is exactly suited to Bismarck and Varzin. He lived for many years in Stolp, in Pomerania, and was returned by that place to the Berlin National Assembly. The brightest and saddest memories of his life are connected with that little town. He writes so well that it is a pity he should not often devote his pen to journalistic purposes, but it was his talent, together with his clear insight and his large store of information, which induced Prince Bismarck to take him from Wolff's telegraph office and find a place for him in the ministry.

"This year Varzin wears a more tranquil aspect than in 1870. Then the chancellor had just retreated from the world, and was beginning to enjoy the sweets of repose, when the telegraph announced the affair at Ems; no one, however, thought of preparing to leave the country. On his return from a short excursion, Prince Bismarck found dispatches awaiting him. He entered the sitting-room with the words, 'in half an hour we must start.' 'But where are we going, and why so soon?' 'To Berlin, and then farther; they're getting insolent again.'

"On the afternoon of the following day Bismarck was in Berlin. Bucher packed his papers together and arrived two days later. When he went to the ministry, at 9 o'clock on the 15th of July, war was declared, and Prince Bismarck had just returned with the King from Brandenburg, to which place he had hastened to meet his Majesty. Now there is no reason to fear that the quiet of Varzin will be disturbed by similar occurrences.

"The Prince and his family live a retired life, and keep all those whose curiosity brings them into the neighborhood at a distance. After breakfast the most pressing business is dispatched by the side of the pond behind the house, in the shade of the beech trees, and then the chancellor hastens into the forest, generally on horseback, to inspect the improvements which are being made. He is noted for his kindness to the villagers. The landed gentry of the neighborhood frequently visit the family, where they always had a hearty welcome, and the relatives and friends of the Prince, many of whom live in the province, often spend several days with him. The house, though it cannot be called handsome, is spacious, and there is room enough in it for twenty or thirty guests.

"In the course of time Prince Bismarck will probably rebuild the house and make it into a kind of castle. In the parks of Varzin there is a large heronry. The herons are the first birds to come with the spring and the last to leave with the autumn. The males fly twice every day to the sea shore in search of food; they are the sacred birds of Varzin. The woods abound with wild swine. Herds of from twenty to thirty may frequently be seen. Other game is also plentiful, and this year I hear it is to be hunted with the Chassepot.

"Thus the times change. Hitherto Prince Bismarck has retired to Varzin for the purpose of recruiting his health by a quiet life among the fir woods. This year the period of rest was less indispensable than formerly. The campaign in France has restored him to vigor and made him seem fresher and stronger than before. Politics are a forbidden subject in the house, with the exception of the interesting episodes of the late war which are often related and discussed.

"There is no stiffness at Varzin; that would be opposed alike to the character of the host and the fine tact of the hostess. I believe her chief wish is that the time may not be far distant when they will be able to retire altogether from the noise and bustle of the busy world to the quiet enjoyment of Varzin. And the 'Pomeranian squire,' as he so often calls himself, would have no objection to the change."

A Tough Mule Story.

There is a man out in Oregon who has a mule. A few days ago he was driving the animal across the prairie, when it suddenly stopped. The man left his wagon and attempted to make the mule move on. He beat it, he coaxed it, he threatened it, and he cursed it, but it refused to budge. He tied fire-crackers to its tail and exploded them, but the mule merely turned his head in a languid sort of way, examined the fire-works, and calmly winked at the man. Then the man thought perhaps the mule had forgotten something and wanted to go back, so he turned him around, but the mule expressed a firm determination not to go home. The man became desperate, and thought he would build a fire under the mule; but as fast as he could kindle it, the mule, standing firm on three legs, reached over his other leg and kicked the flames out. Then he tore his head and swore—the man did —and he rushed to the wagon and got twelve pounds of gunpowder, and he dug a hole under that mule and built a mine. Then he covered up the charge and laid a slow match, and stood off a little piece while he lit it. There was a rumble, a roar, then a terrific explosion; and amid the cloud of dust and upheaved rocks the mule was observed to fling his hind legs in the air and support itself upon its fore feet until the blast was over, when it quickly assumed its old attitude, and a gentle smile passed over its features as it perceived its master lying down and groaning and cursing the day on which he was born. It was of no use.

The man went home and brought out two yoke of oxen. He hitched them to his mule and they pulled, but the mule dug its hoofs into the prairie, and there it stood as firm as Casabianca on the burning deck. Then the men, in furious rage,

New York News.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.

General George W. McCook is in this city consulting a physician about the propriety of his returning to Ohio and participating in the canvass.

The statement made some time since in a Florida paper, that the whole of Orange county, in that state, had been inundated, is pronounced by State Engineer J. A. McDonald, who left Florida after the publication was made, to be a pure invention.

Up to two o'clock this afternoon Mayor Hall has not officially recognized either Controller Connolly or Deputy Green. It is reported that he will issue no revocation of his order to heads of departments. Ex-Deputy Storrs will remain an attache of the Controller's office as chief clerk.

The steamboat Fort Lee was run into and cut down to the water's edge by the steamer Nereus, from Boston, off the Battery. The Lee was run aground. No person injured.

It is reported on good authority that the appointment of Comptroller will now be tendered by Mayor Hall to William E. Warren. Mr. Warren is a Republican.

A solemn requiem mass for the souls of the Papal zouaves who fell in defending Rome, one year ago to-day, was celebrated in St. Patrick's Cathedral this morning.

Ex-Sheriff O'Brien has issued a letter denouncing Tweed, Hall, Sweeny and Connolly, and denying the statements made in some papers that he was secretly in league with the ring.

The Post this evening announces on highest authority that the vouchers stolen from Connolly's office on Sunday night week were not the only ones missing from that office. Early in the summer, it is said, city vouchers for $3,000,000 were suddenly missed from the Controller's office, though only very recently the Mayor or any other officer outside of the Controller's office knew of the abstraction of documents. The city auditor, through whose hands these vouchers passed, and who is responsible for their accuracy, was J. T. Connolly, son of the Controller, and who has since left the country and gone to Europe. The Post says, however, it has not learned whether the vouchers were missing immediately after Connolly's departure or not, nor has it any facts implicating him in the theft.

Comptroller Connolly has written the following letter for publication.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE, Sept. 20.

To the Public:

My attention has been called to an article in the Evening Post, of this evening, in which it is stated that vouchers to a large amount were missing from the office of the City Auditor's Department. The article attempts to implicate my only son, J. Townsend Connolly, who was an Assistant Auditor in the city department and who is now temporarily absent in Europe for the benefit of the health of his wife, and whose return is soon expected. My son was only Assistant Auditor in the department, and the charge against him is shown by affidavits accompanying the note to be a slander, as malignant as base, and part of the conspiracy of men having an interest, which I have not, in destroying these vouchers. My son was not Assistant Auditor under Mr. Watson, but under Mr. W. A. Herring, who was City Auditor. Mr. Watson was County Auditor. My first information about the loss of these vouchers was received from Mr. Storrs, Deputy Controller, in the fall of 1870, who was instructed by me to have them returned. I have always supposed they were so returned until I learned otherwise, after the death of Mr. Watson. I have further to say that the loss of these vouchers was well known to Mayor Hall, Mr. Sweeney and Mr. Tweed immediately after Mr. Watson's death, and as soon as I ascertained they had not been returned. [Signed.]

RICHARD B. CONNOLLY, Controller.

Accompanying the above letter is an affidavit from W. H. Higgins, clerk of the City Auditing Bureau, Finance Department, city of New York, setting forth that the late Jas. Watson, County Auditor, had obtained from him the warrants and vouchers referred to in the letter, a complete list of which is given.

John Fahy has addressed a letter to Mayor Hall asking him to resign, on the ground that he is equally guilty with Tweed and Sweeny in the great frauds on the city.

Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.

The low bar of Tuesday afternoon on the south Atlantic states still continues, and has fallen somewhat. That which was for New England has probably moved eastward beyond our stations, and the pressure has very generally risen from Virginia to Missouri and northward. The high bar in Minnesota has moved southeastward into Michigan and Mississippi. The pressure has probably began to fall in Minnesota, and the temperature has fallen very generally east of Michigan and Mississippi, especially in the middle and eastern states. Threatening weather with light rains is still reported from the South Atlantic, Florida and from New England, and partially cloudy and clearing weather in New York and Pennsylvania. Fresh northerly winds continue from the middle and east Atlantic westward to Lake Michigan and Tennessee, and light southeast winds have risen in Iowa and Minnesota. Probabilities—The bar will probably continue to rise Thursday on the Atlantic coast, with cloudy weather from Virginia to Florida; partially cloudy or clear weather in the middle and eastern states and on the lakes; north and northeast winds from Chesapeake Bay to Georgia, and from Lake Erie to Superior; northerly winds with clear weather from Kentucky to Alabama and Texas.

Buffalo Hunt.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.

General Sheridan, with a party of invited friends, left this morning for a grand buffalo hunt on the western plains. The party consists of Lieut. General Sheridan, General Rucker and Dr. Asch, of his staff; General Anson Stager, Charles L. Wilson and Samuel Johnson, of Chicago; Leonard Jerome, Lawrence W. Jerome, Colonel G. Schuyler Crosby, General H. E. Davies, James Gordon Bennett, Jr., John Heckscher and Carroll Livingston, of New York; M. E. Rogers, of Philadelphia, and General Charles Fitzhugh, of Pittsburgh. The party go to Fort McPherson, on the Union Pacific Railroad, and will march across the head waters of the Republican and Solomon to Fort Hayes, on the Kansas Pacific Railroad. The entire trip will occupy about fifteen days. Buffalo, antelope, elk, black tailed deer, wild turkeys and small deer are plentiful in the section of country which will be traversed by these mighty Nimrods.

Horace Greeley.

Horace Greeley lectured this evening on Self-made Men, at Farwell Hall, to a large audience. He reached here at half past seven, and left at ten for Iowa.

The Virginia City Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.

The loss by the Virginia City fire is probably about three quarters of a million; insurance, $350,000. Four entire blocks in the centre of the business part of the city were burned over. The fire originated from a defective smoke-stack in a planing mill. The principal losers are Lillie & Co., bookstore, $25,000, insured for $10,000; Philadelphia brewery; Friedman, cigar store, $15,000; Tahoe House, $22,000; Lipman, dry goods, $30,000, insured for $20,000; Hobart's residence, $10,000; Gillig's, $8,000; Reynolds, $5,000. A high wind spread the flames rapidly and the efforts of the fire department were unavailing for a long time. Many persons were injured by falling walls or scorched, but none were killed outright.

Wilkesbarre.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 20.

The trial of Michael Kerns, for killing two men, at Scranton, during the strike, is now before the court, and will occupy several days.

The bill of charges preferred against W. W. Scranton have been ignored by the Grand Jury.

The troops of General Osborne's division, called out by the Governor to suppress the riots at Scranton, have been paid off.

Minnesota State Convention.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 20.

The Republican State Convention met at 12 m. to-day. It was the largest convention of any political party ever before held in Minnesota, numbering 206 delegates. The first, second and third resolutions are as follows:

Resolved, That the Republican party of Minnesota, while earnestly desiring the prosperity of every section of our common country, and the amplest development of commerce and manufactures, nevertheless regards agriculture as the paramount material interest of the nation, to which all other forms of industry should be held subordinate.

Resolved, that the essence of law is equality and universality, and that it is beyond the constitutional power of the general government to discriminate between the different classes of the people to enrich those engaged in some pursuits by taxes levied on those engaged in other pursuits, thus making the same law a means of wealth for some while it is an engine of destruction to others; that such a policy is as unlimited in its operations as human selfishness and tends to absorb, in the hands of the few, the substance of the many, and thus create those great inequalities of wealth and poverty which threaten the very existence of our free institutions.

Resolved, That while we prefer indirect taxation by imports on importations to direct taxation, upon a basis of population under a system of internal revenue, justice and policy dictate that the burdens of the government should fall with the most weight upon the vices and luxuries of society, and with the least force on the wants of the multitude, and the government should regard rather the prosperity of the great mass than the aggrandizement of those already wealthy.

The fourth resolution endorses the administration of Governor Horace Austin.

The fifth declares the ascendancy of the Republican party necessary to preserve the fruits of the great struggle through which it has just passed.

The sixth resolution endorses the administration of President Grant as practical, able and efficient.

The seventh and eighth resolutions are as follows:

Resolved, That the internal improvement of lands owned by the state should be opened for immediate occupation by actual settlers at a reasonable compensation, their sale to be regulated by some system of appraisement and credit similar to that provided by our school laws, and that neither the lands themselves nor the funds derived from such sale should be disposed of by the Legislature for any purpose until the law which provides for their disposal shall be submitted to a vote of the people, and to that end we recommend the adoption of a constitutional amendment to that effect at the general election.

Resolved, That the railroads of the country having been constructed to promote the interests of commerce, and deriving every power they possess direct from the people, are at all times and under all circumstances proper subjects for just legislation tending to the promotion of the public welfare, and thus we recognize and enunciate the principle that in any conflict between the state and corporations transacting business within its limits it becomes the duty of the state to protect its citizens by the exercise of every legitimate means at its command.

The following ticket was nominated: Governor, Horace Austin; Lieutenant-Governor, A. H. Yale, of Winona—both by acclamation; Secretary of State, S. P. Jennison, of Goodhue county; Treasurer, W. M. Seagor; Associate Justices, S. J. R. McMiline and J. M. Berry; Attorney-General, F. R. E. Cornell.

Illinois Republican Convention

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 20.

The Republican State Convention to nominate a candidate for Congress for the state at large met here to-day. All the counties except four were represented. D. W. Mann presided and Daniel Sheppard was chosen secretary. General J. L. Beveridge, of Cook, was nominated on the first formal ballot by a vote of 386 out of 491, and the nomination was afterwards made unanimous. The resolutions are as follows:

Resolved, That the party which preserved the Union from dismemberment, abolished slavery, and established the civil and political equality of all men before the law, is entitled to the thanks of patriots, the confidence of the nation and the gratitude of mankind; and while the measure by which these noble results were rightfully accomplished must be sacredly maintained, the time has come when the enmities engendered by the war should yield to the friendships of peace.

Resolved, That the continuance of the political disabilities imposed for participation in the rebellion, longer than the safety of the republic requires, not only tends to perpetuate feelings of unkindness among the people, but as incompatible with that principle of political equality which lies at the basis of the Republican creed, and the members of the House of Representatives from this state deserve the thanks of the people for their unanimous support of the bill for the general removal of political disabilities, which passed that body at its recent session by a vote of three-fourths of its members.

Resolved, That as it will be necessary and desirable to obtain from duties on imports a large portion of the revenue needed to defray the expenses of the government, to pay interest on the national debt and the principal as it matures, such duties should be so adjusted as not to prejudice but promote the interest of every section and branch of industry, as far as may be possible.

Resolved, That the large surplus remaining in the national treasury after the payment of all expenses of government, including the interest on its public debt, calls for a still further reduction of the public burdens, and in effecting that reduction, regard should be had to relief from that species of taxation which, while it adds but slightly to the revenue of the country, taxes heavy its labor and productive interests; and we heartily approve the bills repealing duty on coal and salt which have already passed the House of Representatives.

Resolved, That we refer with pride and admiration to the eminently wise, patriotic, honest and economical administration of President Grant, and we confidently commend it to the approbation of the entire country.

Resolved, That we congratulate the administration of the general government on the reduction of taxes and the public debt at the same time, which could only have been accomplished by an honest and efficient collection and disbursement of the public revenue; that we endorse and approve the general policy of the national administration and of our state government in the conduct of public affairs, and that the Republican party, without any new departures, is equal to the correcting of existing abuses and the perfection of needed reforms, and its mission will not have ended until they are accomplished.

Resolved, That the recent exposures of frauds in the government of the city of New York, unparalleled in the history of civilized communities, prove that it is as unsafe to trust the Democratic party with the practical administration of public affairs as it would be to follow their political principles, and the recent elections in California and Maine show that the American people are generally of this opinion.

Mexican News.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 10.

It is conceded by all that a majority of the members of the new Congress are favorable to Juarez. There is no sign of revolution.

Ex-Minister Plumb, agent of the International Railroad Company of Texas, has arrived here. His object is to open negotiations for the completion of the railway to this city, and for its extension thence to Mazatlan, and the Pacific coast.

By a recent order all foreigners are obliged to register their names within three months.

Industrial Exposition.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.

The attendance at the industrial exposition to-day was 20,000. The Marietta & Cincinnati railroad commence to-day to sell half tickets on all trains, good for six days, the arrangement to continue to the close of the exhibition, which occurs on the 7th of October.

Explosion of a Cannon.

LONDON, Sept. 20.

The steamship Wesser, which sailed from Southampton for New York, takes £31,000 in specie.

The Times to-day has an editorial upon the condition of municipal affairs in New York. Referring to the frauds said to have been perpetrated upon the city treasury, the Times says it foresees a long legal contest, the issue of which interests all Americans, and also the friends of self-government everywhere. The Times also says the alleged frauds will be criticised at the elections, and advises the citizens to put aside party interests, as otherwise the evil, checked for a time, will only occur in an aggravated form.

Strikes among workmen in different parts of the country continue. A large number of sympathetic meetings were held last night in London and elsewhere, and Ogden, the leader of the workingmen's movement, was especially active in support of the strikers.

Mr. Butt, the candidate for Parliament, has been elected from Limerick to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Russell.

MADRID, Sept. 20

King Amadeus, in continuation of his tour of the provinces, has gone to Gerona. He will return to Barcelona Thursday and receive his brother, Prince Humbert, who is about to make another visit to Spain.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 20

Decrees will appear in the official journal to-day providing for a modification of railway fare throughout Belgium, and appointing commissioners to the London international exhibition.

VERONA, Sept. 20

King Emanuel arrived here yesterday for a brief visit, and the city was illuminated last evening in honor of his presence.

STOCKHOLM Sept. 20

The Second Chamber of the Swedish Parliament rejected the scheme of the ministry for the reorganization of the army.

ATHENS, Sept. 20

King George has returned to Athens from a trip to Denmark and Germany. He will again leave the kingdom for a few days, going to Brindisi to meet his mother, the Queen of Denmark, who is about to visit Greece.

CALCUTTA, Sept. 20.

An attempt has been made to assassinate the Chief Justice of India. Two stabs were inflicted upon him with a dagger by a native. The Chief Justice is seriously wounded and lives at his residence in a precarious state.

VIENNA, Sept. 20.

Reports of pending changes in the ministry are contradicted.

LONDON, Sept. 20.

While workmen were re-opening the shafts of the Wigan coal mine, to-day, another explosion took place, with terrible results. Five men were blown to pieces and many injured. The flames burst forth from the opening, and preparations are making to flood the mine.

The steamer City of Montreal, of the Inman line, was launched at Glasgow to-day.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 20.

A committee of the legislature is now at work reorganizing the army. It has already agreed to make military service compulsory.

ROME, Sept. 20.

The celebration continues to-night. Many buildings are illuminated, and theatres at which patriotic spectacles are given are crowded. There has been no disturbance, although cries of "down with Popery" were occasionally heard in the streets. The troops are bivouaced in the public squares, and every precaution has been taken against a violation of public order.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.

Emperor William has conferred the order of the Blue Eagle on Baron Von Beust, Prime Minister of Austria.

Threats of Lynching.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 20.

Governor Fairchild received a telegram from Senator Carpenter, at Milwaukee, this evening, that the negro who killed a man some days ago near that city and who was brought before Judge Mallory and discharged, would be lynched to-night. The Governor immediately telegraphed to the sheriff of Milwaukee authorizing him to call on the Milwaukee Light Guards, if necessary, to protect all citizens in their rights.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 20.

Felix Boston, the negro who was arrested for fatally kicking an Irishman who had provoked the assault, two weeks since was to-day discharged by Judge Mallory. Information of a mob to lynch Boston was received by the sheriff this afternoon, who procured the services of the military in case of need, but up to eleven o'clock all is quiet.

Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20

Most of the principal railroads in the country and the United Line of steamers will make a reduction in fare to delegates to the National Commercial Convention.

The conclave of Knights Templar convened this morning. Sir Wm. Swell, Most Eminent Grand Master, delivered an address, after which reports were made by the several officers, and the entire session was consumed in official business.

D. P. Cartright, of the Elmira, N. Y., Commandery, fell from a third story window of his hotel this morning, and was seriously injured.

Boat Racing

QUEBEC, Sept. 20.

In the four-oared race to-day five Quebec and Renforth crews started—the Renforths winning by two minutes. In the single scull race Kelly was first, Chambers second, and Percy third.

MISCELLANEOUS.

7·30 GOLD LOAN

OF THE

Northern Pacific Railroad.

Rapid Progress of the Work.

The building of the Northern Pacific Railroad, (began July last) is being pushed forward with great energy from both extremities of the line. Several thousand men are employed in Minnesota and on the Pacific coast. The grade is nearly completed 266 miles westward from Lake Superior trains are running over 130 miles of finished road and tracklaying is rapidly progressing toward the eastern border of Dakota. Including the purchase of the St. Paul & Pacific Road, the Northern Pacific Company now has 413 miles of completed road, and by September next this will be increased to at least 560.

A GOOD INVESTMENT. Jay Cooke & Co. are now selling, and unhesitatingly recommend, as a Profitable and perfectly Safe investment, the First Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. They have 30 years to run, bear Seven and Three Tenths per cent. gold interest (more than 8 per cent. currency) and are secured by first and only mortgage on the entire road and its equipments, and also, as fast as the road is completed, on 23,000 ACRES OF LAND to every mile of track, or 500 acres for each $1,000 Bond. They are exempt from U. S. Tax; Principal and Interest are payable in Gold; Denominations; Coupons, $100 to $1,000; Registered, $100 to $10,000.

LANDS FOR BONDS. Northern Pacific 7-30's are at all times receivable at ten per cent. above par, in exchange for the Company's Lands, at their lowest cash price. This renders them practically Interest Bearing Land Warrants.

SINKING FUND. The proceeds of all sales of Lands are required to be devoted to the re-purchase and cancellation of the First Mortgage Bonds of the Company. The Land Grant of the Road exceeds Fifty Million Acres. This immense Sinking Fund will undoubtedly cancel the principal of the Company's bonded debt before it falls due. With their ample security and high rate of interest, there is no investment, accessible to the people, which is more profitable or safe.

EXCHANGING U. S. FIVE-TWENTIES. The success of the New Government 5 per cent. Loan will compel the early surrender of United States 6 per cents. Many holders of Five-Twenties are now exchanging them for Northern Pacific Seven-Thirties, thus realizing a handsome profit, and greatly increase their yearly income.

OTHER SECURITIES. All marketable stocks and bonds will be received at their highest current price in exchange for Northern Pacific Seven-Thirties. Express charges on Money or Bonds received and on Seven-Thirties sent in return, will be paid by the Financial Agents. Full information, maps, pamphlets, etc., can be obtained on application at any agency, or from the undersigned.

A Brilliant and Happy Affair.

The most brilliant social event of the season was that which transpired last evening at the St. James Memorial Church of this city, it being the occasion of the solemnization of the marriage ceremony of Mr. William J. Jackson with Miss Anna Belle Martin, the eldest daughter of Mr. Z. Martin, of this city. The hour of 8 p. m. was announced as that at which the ceremony was to take place, and at that time the church was filled to its utmost capacity by a fashonable and select assemblage of invited guests, upwards of four hundred invitations having been issued, and nearly all of which were accepted. At precisely fifteen minutes after eight the carriages containing the bride and groom appeared at the church entrance, followed by those containing the bridesmaids and groomsmen, and the bridal party entered the church amid the joyous strains of King's wedding march, preceded by three bridesmaids and groomsmen. The bride was escorted by her father, while her mother followed, leaning upon the arm of the bridegroom. As the bridal cortege passed up the central aisle, there was a general desire manifested to catch a glimpse of the party, and the entire interior of the church presented an extremely beautiful appearance, with its crowd of bright and happy faces, gay and elegant toilettes, which flashed their richest hues beneath the mellow and subdued light which gleamed from the lamps above. The bride, who is a beautiful brunette, was attired in an elegant white organdie, trimmed with white satin and valenciennes lace en train, tulle veil, and orange blossom wreath. The bride's mother wore a violet silk. The three bridesmaids, who were each of the brunette cast of beauty, were Miss Lena Martin and Miss Eva Hazzard, of this city, and Miss Fanny Hubbard, of Erie. All were dressed alike in toilets of white muslin en train, with scarlet silk trimmings. The bridegroom and his attendants, Messrs Hazzard, Martin and Fuller, each wore the conventional full dress of black, with white vests and gloves.

During the impressive marriage ceremony, which was that of the Episcopal Church, and occupied some moments in its performance, there was a deep stillness reigning throughout the church, that was only broken by the voice of the rector. Rev. Henry Purdon, and the firm and audible responses of the couple before him At the conclusion of the ceremony the organist rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march, and the newly-married couple proceeded directly to the residence of the bride's parents, where the invited guests soon followed, and a most brilliant reception was held, and congratulations followed from those assembled.

The presents which had been sent in by relatives and friends during the day were costly, numerous and elegant in the extreme, and consisted of nearly everything in the line of silverware or articles of bijouterie and virtu that could be imagined, including solid silver sets, cake baskets, card receivers, water coolers and goblets gold and silver spoons, vases, paper-holders, paintings and numerous minor articles made by friends and more valued than others more costly. Contrary to the usual result on similar occasions, there were no gifts duplicated, and if the receivers had made the selection themselves no more useful or elegant list could have been made, and each gift was the spontaneous tribute of affection and must have been a delightful surprise to the newly married pair. Among the more noticeable of the many presents was an elegant Fletcher's quarto Bible, from the bride's mother, bound in Turkey morocco, with gilt edge and ornaments, diamond paneled sides. Her father also gave her a very chaste and heavy gold chain of new and unique pattern, while the bridegroom's gift consisted of a beautiful set of diamond ear-drops. After a season of congratulations, during which all present tendered their best wishes for future happiness and long life, intermingled with the many complimentary and happy remarks peculiar to such occasions, an elegant collation, (prepared under the skillful supervision of G B. Williams, caterer) was served, followed by music and dancing until an early hour this morning.

The entire affair, from first to last, was a complete success, and one to which the principals, as well as all present, must ever refer with a feeling of pleasure, for it is seldom that a young couple enter the married state under more auspicious circumstances and joyous omens, and that their future life may be all that they desire, is the heartfelt wish of those who participated in the happy festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson start this morning for an extended tour to Baltimore, Washington, and other portions of the South, thence home via New York city.

We regret that want of space prevents our giving a more complete account of the nuptial gaieties. The toilettes of the ladies present were especially elegant and becoming; among the more noticeable of the latter were the following—want of space alone preventing a more extended list:

Miss Colt, of Meadville, white Swiss entrain; Miss Belle Haverstick, of Erie, green moire antique; Mrs. Victor Boughton, white silk, white lace overskirt; Mrs. D P. Coombs, garnet silk, white silk trimmings; Mrs. John Dillingham, pink moire antique, thread lace; Miss Lollie Williams, blue silk, white muslin; Miss Belle Tinker, of Meadville, green silk, white muslin; Miss Mary Stowell, black grenadine, salmon ruches; Miss Elma Bross, blue poplin, white Swiss; Mrs. E G. Patterson, green silk, white silk trimmings; Mrs C. E. Merrill, green silk, white muslin; Miss Florence Vincent, of Erie, pink silk; Miss Hattie Gibbs, blue poplin, white Swiss; Mrs. C. E Goodwin, black silk, white tarleton; Miss Sadie Farrel, green moire white illusion, court train; Mrs. Hull, of Meadville, ashes of roses silk. Mrs. Horace Temple, pearl silk with Brussels lace and buff satin headings; Mrs. Dr. Roberts, blue silk, Valenciennes over-dress; Miss Scofield, of Warren, buff silk and buff crape over-dress; Miss Reed, of Erie, black grenadine, trimmed with buff tarletan; Mrs. Charles H. Ames, black silk and point lace trimmings; Miss Mollie Bordwell, Albion, N. Y., white Swiss and pink silk trimming; Miss A. Fuller, pearl silk and cherry trimmings; Mrs. E. A. Howard, lilac silk, white Swiss over-skirt, lace trimmings.

There were many other rare and costly toilettes we were unable to obtain.

Building Improvements in Titusville During the Year ending October, 1871—Total Cost of Building Improvements about $2,000,000.

We publish below a list, as compiled by our reporter, of the building improvements in Titusville during the year ending October, 1871. Such an exhibit shows very conclusively how rapid and substantial has been the growth of Titusville during the past year. Our record a year ago contained many large structures in business quarters, such as the Parshall Hotel and Opera-house, and the Chase & Stewart block, the separate cost of which contributed largely to swell the general sum of expenditure.

But while many new blocks are now in course of erection on Spring, Washington and Pine streets, some of the most elaborate and costly character, still, the great majority of the new buildings in the following catalogue are private residences, and nothing could more clearly indicate than this fact the rapid increase in our population, and the prosperity of all classes. A great proportion of the new buildings will be found to be dwelling houses of moderate size and cost, situated in new quarters or suburbs of the city, on the site of what was hitherto flats, or swamp, or forests, or wooded hills.

The number of elegant private residences of the first class, costing from five to twenty thousand dollars, are also quite numerous. One can readily see why the season has been such a busy one among all classes of mechanics, and why hundreds have been drawn here from the surrounding country. From time to time as extensive buildings or notable houses have been projected or completed, we have given a sketch of them in these columns, and we shall not attempt more than the merest outline in the list below. The difficulty of getting statistics of this character can be easily understood, and with the utmost care the most diligent reporter is apt to fall into some errors in cost, location, name, &c. But the general result and an approximation to the total amount of building and its cost is the principal end in view.

It is gratifying to note in this connection the multiplication of homesteads, especially among the mechanic classes. It is worthy of mention that building lots in the suburbs, have been sold at a moderate price, and credit given for payment, and by this means hundreds of families have been brought here to reside that otherwise would have remained abroad. The vast throngs that crowd our streets and stores of a Saturday night, and which have so often excited the astonishment of strangers, is now accounted for. All these thousands, although new comers, really belong here, and are earning their livelihood here in various pursuits.

Another feature of building here the past season has been the reduced cost of building material of all kinds, as well as a reduction in the price of labor. Extensive as this list is, there is a large class of new small dwellings, of which no data could be obtained, but which in the aggregate would swell the number to a considerable extent.

The foregoing list does not include the Acid Works at the West End, which cost $150,000; two new refineries, amounting to about $100,000; nor the improvements on old refineries, which will approximate $75,000. Nor does it include the improvements and buildings of the Oil Pipe Company, the U. & T. Railroad Company, the City Gas Works, and scores of suburban cottages. But enough for to-day. It will be found that the building improvements of the present season in Titusville since October, 1870, the date of our last report, reach nearly the sum of $2,000,000, or about one-third more than last year. This is progress.

M'LLE NILSSON.—The sale of seats for M'lle Christina Nilsson's concert commences this morning at 9 o'clock at the box office of the Opera-house. The concert of M'lle Nilsson has been looked forward to with much pleasure. That M'lle Nilsson is recognized by cities wherever she has been as capable of occupying the highest position, and that she is an artiste of wonderful merit, is conceded by all. The dilettanti of Titusville as yet have not had the pleasure of listening to her. She comes amongst us applauded by all and questioned by none. A New York exchange, after one of her concerts there, says: "The faultless performance surpassed all expectations, great as they were. It was not only the queen of song that stood before them, beautiful in person, and with every trait full of nobility and expression, pouring out from her rich voice notes of transcendent power and of tenderest sympathy, but all the accessories and accompaniments were of the highest character. Miss Cary would herself alone have made the fortunes of a concert in days gone by. The [illegible] and expression which characterize her took the audience by surprise and won their hearts at once. But the charm of the evening was in the voice of the great Swedish songstress. The 'Un voce poco fa' was sung as never before. Favorite as it is upon the lyric stage and accustomed as all were to it, it became new and great coming from this rich, melodious voice. 'The Last Rose of Summer' has been sung till even its charm might pall the ear, but it became wonderful in its pathos and tenderness as Nilsson rendered it. The encore, 'The Old Folks at Home,' was elevated into exquisite delicacy and force of sentiment by the touch of genius. The final trio, the 'Messe Solennelle' of Rossini, rose to the sublimity of religious art, and closed the performance with feelings of beauty, tenderness and awe filling the hearts of the audience."

One fact appears in the blaze of M'lle Nilsson's fame, to have been forgotten She is attended and assisted by some of the finest artists in the world, both vocal and instrumental, men and women, who are themselves stars of the first magnitude.

BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING IN THE MORNING HERALD.—A gentleman advertised in the MORNING HERALD on Tuesday morning, asking for answers to be addressed to "K," HERALD office. Within twenty-four hours we received eight answers from as many different post-offices. "K" is very well satisfied that the HERALD is a pretty good medium for getting at the people everywhere in this section. A superintendent of a certain petroleum company, not long since, advertised for a machinist in the MORNING HERALD, and received fifty-six applications in one day He came into the office in great disgust, and said he wanted to stop that advertisement, for he couldn't stand the pressure any longer and attend to his business.

CHICKEN THIEF ARRESTED.—A chicken dealer, from Ohio, was arrested yesterday by officer Miller, on complaint of a farmer from Townville, from whom he had stolen some "chicks," while on his way to this place. He was taken before 'Squire Perry who fined him forty-five dollars, including costs. In the meantime, the chickens, horse and wagon were being sold on the street. His whole establishment only brought a sufficient sum to pay his fine, and the 'Squire had to loan him a dollar to get out of town.

THE CORRY RAILROAD SHOPS.—The meeting of the Directors of the O. C. & A. R R. Co., at Philadelphia, has been adjourned till next week, when a decision will be made as to the removal of the railroad shops from Corry. At the last meeting delegations were present from Corry, Union and Oil City, each pledging large appropriations in consideration of the shops. Oil City is said to have "raised" $25,000, and as the longest pole always knocks the persimmon, she will perhaps get the prize.

THE EAGLE HOSE BALL.—The Eagle Hose Company will give a ball next Tuesday, Sept. 26, at Lowry's Hall, on Monroe street. The ball promises to be largely attended. The Eagles are a very efficient and faithful body of men, and we hope that the public will come forward and patronize them liberally, as they are well deserving of public patronage.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Mrs. Edward Pollard, residing on Spruce street, while passing the corner of Monroe and Spruce, at a late hour on Tuesday evening, suddenly tripped and fell headlong on the ground. Her right ankle was severely sprained and causes her much suffering. Dr. Young thinks she will not recover for several weeks. This is another instance (our informant says) where the city might be held liable for damages. The side-walk where the lady fell is considerably higher than the rest of the walks, and the step from one to the other, not being noticed in the dark, caused the accident.

KEROSENE ACCIDENT.—About 6 o'clock last evening a pendent containing four lighted oil lamps fell in the dining-room of the International Hotel. The flames were speedily smothered with wet blankets. No damage was done excepting to the lamps.

COMMON COUNCIL—SPECIAL MEETING.—The Council were unable to transact any business last week, for want of a quorum. A special meeting is called for this evening, and a full attendance is requested.

NEW PATENTS.—H. Wilson, of Tarr Farm, has obtained a patent for a new pipe wrench.

N. Mead, of Oil City, has obtained a patent on a new wagon axle.

PERSONAL.—Mr Joseph Barnsdall, who has been confined for the past five weeks with erysipelas, is convalescent. His physician, Dr. Reno, gives hopes of his early recovery.

OFFICER MILLER arrested three white men yesterday for an assault upon a negro. Their case will be heard before 'Squire Clark on Friday night.

THE new well at Mill farm, near old National wells, was reported yesterday as doing 150 barrels daily.

For the Herald.

NIAGARA.

"Beautiful, beautiful, beautiful!"
Cloudy and misty and white,
Pure as the angels in Paradise,
Floating through regions of light.
Spotless as souls of the innocent,
Rolling in mist and in spray—
So hung the Falls in my distant gaze.
"Beautiful, beautiful, beautiful!"
This was all I could say.

"Wonderful, wonderful, wonderful!"
This was all I could say;
Coming still nearer the cataract,
Wrapped in the splendor of day.
Gorgeously robed like a virgin queen,
Mad with a lovers, disdain,
So seemed the flood as 'twas leaping off,
Ruthless, and deathless, and vain.
"Wonderful, wonderful, wonderful!"
This was all I could say.

"Wonderful, beautiful, terrible!"
Here in the close of the day;
Forever the swallows are flying,
Out where the wild waves are lying,
Bathing their wings in the spray.
Ages eternal are rolling by,
Still, like their Author on high,
Time has no seal to set upon them;
Tell me, Oh, when shall they die!
Never! but roll from yon precipice,
Fearful and grand as to-day!
"Beautiful, wonderful, terrible!"
This was all I could say!

—The Northwestern Agricultural Society will hold their first annual fair at Corry, October 2d, 3d and 4th.

—John G. Rider, of Galesburg, Centre county, went to Philadelphia the other day to get an oculist to remove a diseased eye. He was chloroformed, the well eye cut out by mistake; and thus he returned to his home in midnight darkness and sorrow.

—The Synod of Erie of the Presbyterian Church will meet in Franklin on the 13th of October, in the First Presbyterian Church. The synod consists of 150 ministers and represents about 200 churches. Including lay delegates, the body will consist of from 250 to 300 members.

"DOT."—There was a larger attendance last evening at the Opera-house to witness the last performance of Manager Beamer's dramatic company. "Dot" was given with all the strength of the company and was well represented. The laughable farce of the "Persecuted Dutchman" brought forth immoderate laughter and applause. This troupe go from here to Meadville. We can recommend them as the best dramatic artists in the west.

went and got three movable steam engines and chained them to the mule. Three half-inch cables snapped asunder, and the mule still maintained its defiant attitude. It is there yet, and the man has made a contract with a builder to go out there and erect a mill over the mule, because he regards him as one of the permanent fixtures of the place, and he thinks he can apply the power for the mill by arranging to have the mule's tail twisted right hard every few minutes with machinery.

Right and Wrong Way to Milk.

The Irish Farmers' Gazette publishes the following from Prof. Dick of the Edinburgh Veterinary College, on the manner of milking:

The operation is performed differently in various parts of the country. In some the dairy-maid dips her hand into a little milk and by successively stripping the teat between her finger and thumb unloads the udder. This plan, however, is attended with the disadvantage of irritating more or less the teat, and rendering it liable to cracks and chops, which are followed by inflammation extending to the rest of the quarter. This accounts for the disease occurring more frequently among the cows under the charge of one milker than it does in those under the charge of another; and as this practice is more common in some parts of the country than in others, it accounts for the disease being more common in these parts. This plan of milking, where the irritation is not sufficient to excite the extent of inflammation to which I have alluded, frequently produces a horny thickening of the teat, which renders it more difficult to milk than when in its natural state, and at the same time predisposes to inflammation when any case occurs to set it up. These effects may be and are almost entirely avoided by the most scientific mode of milking adopted in other parts of the country, where, instead of drawing down or stripping the teat between the thumb and finger as I have stated, the dairy-maid follows more closely the principles which instinct has taught the calf. She first takes a slight hold of the teats with her hand, by which she merely encircles it, then lifts her hand up so as to press the body of the udder upwards, by which the milk escapes into the teat; or if as is generally the case when some hours have elapsed between milking times, the teat is full, she grasps the teat close to its origin with her thumb and fore-finger, so as to prevent the milk which is in the teat from escaping upwards; then, making the rest of the fingers to close from above downwards in succession, forces out what milk may be contained in the teat through the opening of it. The hand is again passed up and closed as before, and the milk drawn easily and freely, without the tugging and wrenching inflicted by clumsy milkers.

NOTICE.

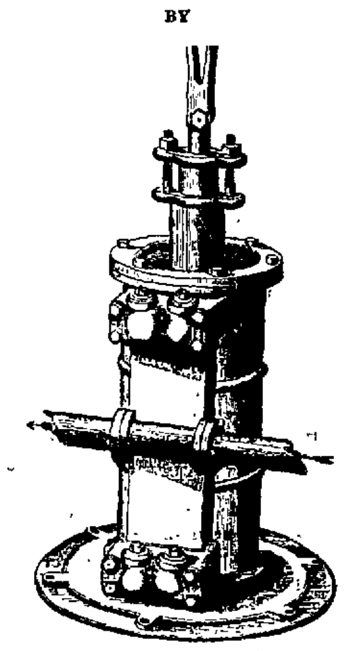
Patented Aug. 8, '71

BY



The GOULDS MAN'F'ING CO.,

Seneca Falls, N. Y.

To all Whom it may Concern:

We have obtained Letters Patent of the United States, dated August 8 h, 1871, granted to The Goulds Manufacturing Company, of Seneca Falls, N.Y., assignees of William H. Pollard, for a "GAS PUMP FOR OIL WELLS"

Manufacturers, dealers and operators are therefore hereby notified that we shall protect our rights by suit in all cases where such manufacture, sale or use of pumps is continued without our authority after the date of said patent.

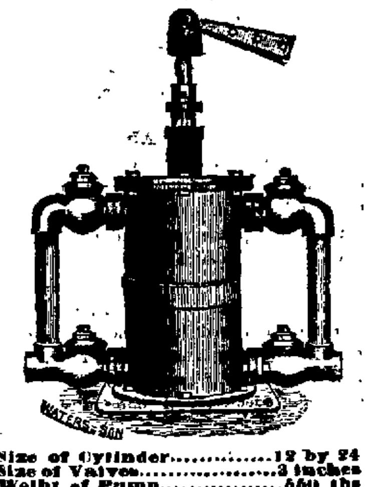
DOUBLE ACTING

EXCELSIOR GAS PUMP!

The Largest and Best Gas Pump in Use.

160 sold in 90 days, and give entire satisfaction.



Size of Cylinder..........12 by 24
Size of Valves..........3 inches
Weight of Pump..........550 lbs

This Pump is not excelled for durability, simplicity and workmanship, and creates a greater vacuum with 30 to 40 per cent. less power than any now in use. This Pump has Steel Spring Rings so constructed as to create a very slight friction, and are self-packing. The valves and ports are large, to admit of a free suction and discharge of the gas. The valve seats are protected by a leather gasket on the valve to obviate any wear to the valve seat or valve.

THE DIAMOND GLASSES,

MANUFACTURED BY

J. E. SPENCER & CO., N. Y.,

WHICH ARE NOW OFFERED TO

the public, are pronounced by all the celebrated Opticians of the world to be the MOST PERFECT, Natural, Artificial help to the human eye ever known. They are ground under their own supervision from minute Crystal Pebbles, melted together, and derive their name "Diamond," on account of their hardness and brilliancy. The SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLE on which they are constructed brings the core or center of the lens directly in front of the eye, producing a clear and distinct vision, as in the natural, healthy sight, and preventing all unpleasant sensations, such as glimmering and wavering of sight, dizziness, etc., peculiar to all others in use. They are Mounted in the Finest Manner, in frames of the best quality, of all materials used for that purpose. Their Finish and Durability cannot be surpassed.

CAUTION—None genuine unless bearing their trade mark stamped on every frame.

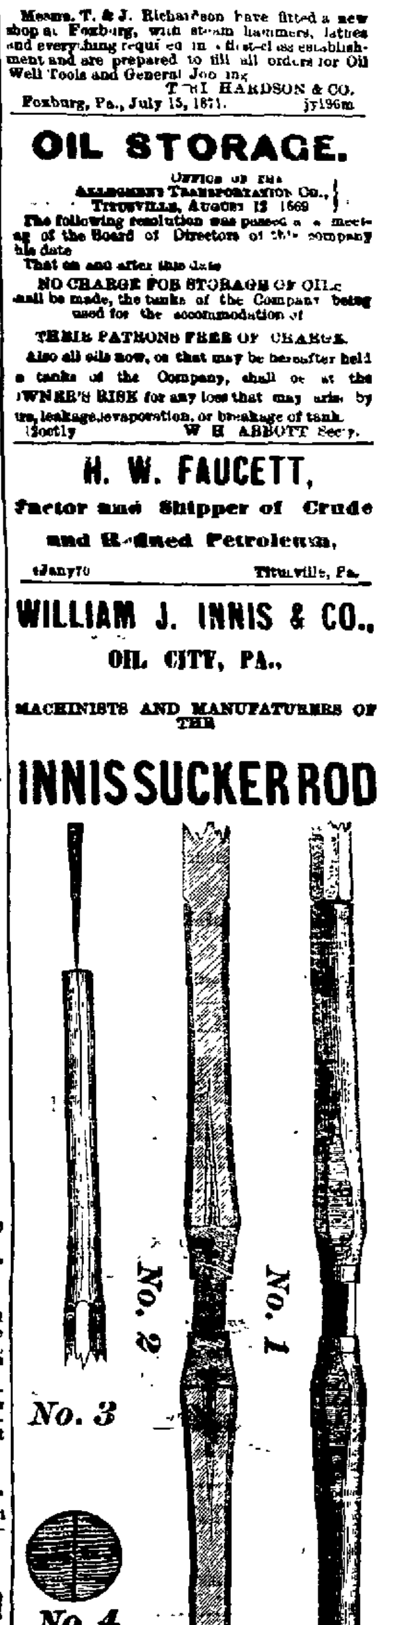
MACHINISTS AND MANUFATURERS OF THE

INNIS SUCKER ROD



SUCKER-ROD JOINTS.

Explanation of Cuts.

No. 1— represents the Joint complete. No. 2—A longitudinal sectional view of a full Joint, showing the position of the wood in the socket when wedged, a glance at which must convince the most skeptical of the superiority of this Joint over any other. No. 3—A view of the end of the Rod, when turned ready for the Socket to be driven on, with the slot for the wedge and the wedge about being entered. No. 4—Represents the end of the wood, and shows the proper way to saw the slot (across the grain) into which the wedge is to be driven.

The above description and accompanying cuts, will enable any skilled person to make connection at the wells in a much shorter time than can be done with any other Rod, all the tools required being a small fine saw, one of our hollow augers and a few of our wedges. The wedges can be procured at any hardware store, gratis.
